As this Collection of Tunes is accommodated to the Selection of Psalms and Hymns, by the late Rev. Richard Cecil, used at St. John's Chapel, Bedford Row, an appropriate Tune may be found therein to every Measure which occurs in that Publication.

It has been suggested by some friends, that Preludes and Interludes annexed to the Tunes would render the work more acceptable: some have, therefore, been attempted, which may serve as hints for the extemporary performer to improve upon. These, however, being written rather with a view to private than public performance, are not in every instance confined to the gravity and brevity required in congregational Singing. Whatever of this nature intermingles itself with the praises of God, if not exceedingly chastised in style and length, seems an unjustifiable interruption of the worship of the Church.

A handwritten musical score for the song 'The Rose Tree'. The score is written on two staves, a treble staff and a bass staff, both in G major (one sharp) and 2/4 time. The melody is written in the treble staff, featuring a series of eighth-note runs and quarter notes. The bass staff provides a simple harmonic accompaniment with quarter and eighth notes. The lyrics are written below the bass staff, aligned with the notes. The handwriting is in ink on aged paper.

Great God! should thy severer eye
And thine impartial hand,
Mark and revenge iniquity,
No mortal flesh could stand.

But there are pardons with my God
For crimes of high degree;
Thy Son has bought them with his blood,
To draw us near to thee.
